Comment

The difference between our Spätlese and the higher ranked Auslese is not so much expressed by the level of residual sweetness but more by the increased flavour density, richness and overall concentration. However, elegance, drive, finesse and a mouthdrying finish are equally important for both styles.

The 2005 Auslese shows all those qualities with distinct flavours of stonefruit, apple and elderberry blossoms, but most importantly the purity of the variety itself without any botrytis influence. A delightful low alcohol sweet wine, still a bit subdued on the nose but there is great balance and presence on the palate.

Short description

Delightful low alcohol sweet Riesling, light yet complex with distinct flavour of stonefruit, apple and elderberry blossoms. (May 2006)
